Era Of Cheap Food In Canada At End, Says Head Of Dairymen

OTTAWA—The era of cheap food in Canada is at an end, R. C. Smellie, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, told the Ottawa Rotary Club today.

The only thing he could see that would keep down the price of food was reduction in the cost of those things which farmers must buy from the cities, and a lowering of the cost of labor to him.

Although not a farmer, Mr. Smellie stated that his business was closely allied with agriculture, and he had a great admiration for the men who produce food on the farms. The upward trend of prices and wages had made it inevitable, he said, that farmers should seek better returns. Canadians had become accustomed to cheap food in the depression years, during the war and subsequently food prices had been kept down by means of subsidies. As these were discontinued, farmers would look to consumers for the returns which they felt justified in asking.

Unless Canadians were prepared to lower their standard of living they were going to require more food, dairy products in particular. People today in Canada were eating vastly more food than they did before the war, and the population was growing. Unless farmers were encouraged to produce more, unless dairy production expanded and increased in the next few years, Canada might very soon reach a point where all the dairy products produced here would be needed for home consumption and one of Canada's

Victorians Give More Meat Coupons

Victorians surrendered 4,568 meat coupons between June 1-14 to help supply for Europe, according to a report today from Brig. W. G. Colquhoun, chairman of the city's coupon collection committee.

He said Victorians had increased their donations of coupons and were now surrendering them at the rate of 9,000 a month. This meant 18,000 pounds more meat a month for Europe's hungry.

"If everybody did the same," he said, "Canada would give 3,600,000 pounds of meat to Europe a month."

Brig. Colquhoun asked that coupons numbered up to 39 be turned in at 602 Broughton Street before June 28. He said donations on the last day of the month were apt to be heavy, swamping the staff of volunteers who must turn them over immediately to the ration board.

Figures from Ottawa showed Canadians had turned in a total of 88,899 coupons. Food Information Committee reported that by giving up their coupons, Canadians had made 325,000 pounds of extra canned meat available for shipment to Unrra authorities.

Meat Board reported shipments to Unrra of nearly 9,000,000 pounds of canned meat in the week ending June 1. It went to the people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine and Italy.

Prospects Bright India Parties Will Approve Interim Cabinet

NEW DELHI (AP)—Chances increased today that the dominantly Hindu All-India Congress Party and the Muslim League would accept the British cabinet's plan for an interim government to rule India in the period of transition before independence.

Field Marshal Lord Wavell, the Viceroy, proposed five Congress representatives, five Muslim Leaguers and four representatives of smaller segments of India's mass of 400,000,000 persons for the interim government to start functioning June 26.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress, was represented as "personally" very unhappy, but the pro-Congress Hindustan Times said "there is every reason for giving favorable consideration" to the Viceroy's announcement.

President Maulana Azad of the Congress visited Sir Stafford Cripps, one of three British cabinet members on the independence mission. He was re-

Atomic Heat In 10 Years Maybe, Fuel-Hungry Canadians Informed

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times Correspondent
OTTAWA—Sole official comfort which the National Research Council is dispensing these days to a nation already shivering in anticipation of a fuel shortage next winter worse than any experienced in the past is the cautious prediction that atomic energy will be available for heating purposes within 10 to 15 years.

Even this gloomy timetable is said by the scientists to be subject to the important qualification that when atomic energy does become practical for heating purposes, it will not be suitable for individual domestic installations. The reason is that the danger to human life is so great that the heating unit will have to be encased in walls of concrete at least 10 feet thick.

However, this difficulty, the National Research Council men say, will not interfere with the use of atomic energy as fuel for large central heating plants in urban centres of population, which will pipe heat to individual dwellings.

ATOMIC ENERGY DREAMS

While these scientists have been as tight-lipped as ever lately over the technical secrets of atomic energy, they have been notably more communicative—and disappointingly so—on the subject of dreams of civilian

Aunt Is Charged With Murder Of 5-Year-Old Girl

Death in Esquimalt of a five-year-old Indian girl, Rosan James Martin, believed to have occurred last Thursday from a brutal beating for which no motive has been found, resulted today in the charging of her aunt, Mrs. Ethel James, 845-Viewfield Road, with murder.

Mrs. James appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt Police Court and was remanded until 9:45 Saturday morning. She was represented by H. W. Davey, K.C., and G. H. Sedger appeared as Crown prosecutor.

In the spectators' section of the courtroom were her husband, two Indian women and R. H. Moore, Indian agent from Duncan.

Mrs. James showed no sign of emotion as she was charged with having murdered the girl "on or about" June 13.

The little girl had been living with her aunt and uncle, Ethel and Henry James, for two years and four months in a two-room cabin in a row of three cabins situated behind the home of Mrs. D. Matson, 847 Viewfield Road.

Her aunt was taken into custody by Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe late Sunday night and was charged before Magistrate Henry C. Hall in police court this afternoon.

The arrest followed three days of investigations by the municipal police force, instigated after the child's body was viewed at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors.

Showing signs of violent death, the body of the youngster was turned over to Coroner E. C. Hart at the undertaking parlor shortly after it was brought there last Friday morning from the Viewfield Road cabin.

Dr. Hart called for a post mortem on the body and Sunday morning Dr. John H. Moore announced after an autopsy that little Rosan had been beaten to death. She had a hemorrhage of the brain, and another of the intestines, cuts and bruises over both eyes; a cut about three inches long just above her forehead, and smaller cuts, bruises and scratches on the breast, abdomen, hips, thighs, shoulders and back.

The little girl was said to be the daughter of Martin Fred and Hilda James, an unmarried Indian couple residing at the Cole Bay Indian Reserve, off McTavish Road in Saanich. Esquimalt police said they were not living together now. Hilda is a sister of Henry James.

First report of the youngster's death was made Friday morning when it was said she died early in the morning of Thursday.

This however was disputed by neighbors who stated they saw her at the window of the cabin around noon Thursday.

BEATEN TO DEATH
 The aunt, Ethel James, was arrested by Chief Stancombe and Constable James Smart at the cabin and was brought to the city police station and booked on the murder charge shortly before 11 last night. Her husband, a swamper on a coal truck, was at the cabin at the time. Mrs.

James, believed to be in her late 20s, broke down and cried when arrested. She was wearing a brown coat with yellow scarf tied over her head when brought to jail. Her husband slept at a neighbor's house, and their cabin was locked and kept under guard all night.

The little girl slept in a cot at the foot of her aunt's bed. On the wall above the cot were marks which appeared to be blood. Also two pillows and some bedding smeared apparently with blood, were found on top of an old stove at the rear of the Matson house in front of the cabins.

Another Indian family and a white man occupied the two other cabins in the row of three where the little girl lived.

The inquest will be held Wednesday morning at 10.

 The aunt, Ethel James, was arrested by Chief Stancombe and Constable James Smart at the cabin and was brought to the city police station and booked on the murder charge shortly before 11 last night. Her husband, a swamper on a coal truck, was at the cabin at the time. Mrs.

James, believed to be in her late 20s, broke down and cried when arrested. She was wearing a brown coat with yellow scarf tied over her head when brought to jail. Her husband slept at a neighbor's house, and their cabin was locked and kept under guard all night.

The little girl slept in a cot at the foot of her aunt's bed. On the wall above the cot were marks which appeared to be blood. Also two pillows and some bedding smeared apparently with blood, were found on top of an old stove at the rear of the Matson house in front of the cabins.

Another Indian family and a white man occupied the two other cabins in the row of three where the little girl lived.

The inquest will be held Wednesday morning at 10.

Esquimalt Cabin Where Indian Girl Reported Murdered

At the side window marked with an X in a two-roomed cabin at 845 Viewfield Road, five-year-old Rosan James Martin was last reported seen alive at noon last Thursday. The little Indian girl had lived there with her aunt and uncle, Ethel and Henry James, for two years and four months.

James, believed to be in her late 20s, broke down and cried when arrested. She was wearing a brown coat with yellow scarf tied over her head when brought to jail. Her husband slept at a neighbor's house, and their cabin was locked and kept under guard all night.

Hopes Held For End Of Strike

Harold Pritchett, district president of the striking International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.), accompanied by Karl Larsen, international I.W.A. vice-president, arrived in Victoria at 11:40 today to confer with Chief Justice Gordon Sloan and provincial government officials, on decisions reached Sunday during an I.W.A. district council meeting.

Hope for settlement of the strike this week was still high as it was understood that the executive council of the union had reviewed the whole strike situation following the trek of 2,500 strikers to Victoria Friday and conferences with Premier John Hart, Labor Minister George S. Pearson, members of the provincial cabinet, and Chief Justice Sloan, who has made several attempts to bring the union officers and the operators' representatives together.

Decisions made at a five-hour meeting of the district council of the union have not been announced.

REPORT TONIGHT
 Mr. Pritchett said I.W.A. leaders were in "continuing contact" with government representatives and a report will be made to the I.W.A. district council, scheduled to reconvene at 7 tonight.

A new interpretation of the check-off was reported under discussion at the union executive meeting Sunday. Under this new interpretation, a worker would agree with his union local not to revoke the check-off under taking for duration of the contract.

Chief Justice Sloan, in his non-binding arbitration recommendations suggested a voluntary revocable check-off for the collection of union dues. The union had asked for an irrevocable check-off, along with other union security clauses, including a union shop.

The check-off provisions were one of the chief reasons for the rejection by the union of the Sloan strike settlement plan.

In answer to the union's original demands of a 25-cent an hour pay boost and a 40-hour work week, the Chief Justice had recommended a 13-cent pay boost and an average 44-hour week.

Five delegates for Victoria local 1118 of the I.W.A., who attended the district council meeting are not expected back in Victoria until Tuesday morning.

The local here has called a membership meeting for 8 Tuesday night in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden to hear the delegates' report.

June Rain Inch Above Normal
 Weather for the last six days has been below normal for this time of year, reports William Burton, Gonzales Hill weatherman, who notes the forecast for the next 36 hours promises improvement. "Cloudy in morning but clear by noon and clear tomorrow."

Rain for the month of June is nearly an inch above normal—39 inches.

Temperatures have been below normal this mid-June period. Highest reading was 73 June 1 which is by no means a record, said Mr. Burton. On June 13 the reading was 72. Sunday the glass slipped to a minimum of 55 and the highest recording was 56. Prediction today is 58. Sunshine for the month was cut down by the cloudy conditions during the last six days.

Bandits Escape After Hold-Up
 A small crime wave struck Greater Victoria over the weekend, with two attempted armed hold-ups and four burglaries reported to police.

First attempted armed hold-up occurred in Saanich, where storekeeper Lee Kong was called to the door of his shop at Boleskine Road and Douglas Street by a man who said he wanted some cigarettes late Saturday night.

Lee asked who was calling, and the man answered "Tony."

The storekeeper told Saanich police he opened the door about four inches and saw a young man with a long-barreled revolver. Lee slammed the door shut and called the police.

A short time later Saturday night, city police received a call from the Albany Hotel and found on investigating that a dark young man had entered the office where the proprietor, Herbert W. Laird, was lying down and had asked for money.

Laird told police the young man had held a revolver in his hand. Laird resisted, and the man struck him on the forehead with the gun and ran away.

Two houses were entered in Oak Bay. A flashlight and a quantity of jewelry were reported missing Sunday from a home at 3315 Ripon Road, and a combination cigarette lighter and case, cigars and cigarettes were reported missing from a home at 2020 Uplands Road.

Two wrist watches and other jewelry were reported missing from a Saanich home apparently broken into on Sunday evening, police said. City police reported a suite at 1415 Moss Street had been entered Saturday night and a purse and its contents, including between $18 and $20, was missing.

 TORONTO (CP)—The harassed weatherman, beleaguered by the public when a storm changes its path and makes his carefully-prepared forecasts look like had guesses, today came up with figures to show he is right most of the time.

At least, an analysis of forecasts issued for seven major Canadian cities in the last month showed the predictions were 83 per cent correct.

Results were compiled experimentally on the two-day forecasts issued for Victoria, Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Halifax to test the success of weather predictions under the decentralized set-up where forecasts are issued from six district offices instead of

FULLY ENTITLED TO IT

IT WAS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION that Hon. Herbert Anscomb, provincial Minister of Finance, would succeed the late Hon. R. L. Maitland as leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of British Columbia. His elevation to this important post at the organization's convention in Vancouver last Friday and Saturday—the first of its kind since 1938—is not only a tribute to his ability as a public servant, but also as a valued member of the Coalition administration over which Premier Hart presides.

That the elected representative of the provincial riding of Oak Bay easily defeated the member for South Okanagan surprised none of Mr. Anscomb's friends. Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, the only other contestant for the leadership of his party, is an enthusiastic supporter of the present regime; and only a short time ago he ardently advocated the formation of a Coalition Party. But zeal and ambition—the twin attributes of aspiring youth—are seldom the match for practical experience and an impressive record of performance. Mr. Anscomb's vote of 319 to Mr. Bennett's 188 obviously reflected the majority view in more than its elementary sense.

According to the Canadian Press description of the convention's election of the new leader, the proceedings were "lively" by an address from Mrs. Billy Ralston, Coalition member of the Legislature for Point Grey, who nominated the South Okanagan contender. She is reported to have criticized the government for failing to place a woman in a cabinet post during the recent reorganization, and Mr. Bennett, in accepting the nomination, promised to remedy the complaint.

It is not within our province to dilate on the implication of Mrs. Ralston's criticism of the government's action consequent upon the untimely death of Mr. Maitland. Our appreciation of Mr. Bennett's frequent protestations of allegiance to the Coalition administration, moreover, deters us from a too pointed suggestion that victory over the Minister of Finance—the Premier's able and loyal lieutenant—on the floor of the convention hall would in no way have entitled the South Okanagan member to dictate the composition of the cabinet.

However, all that is now so much water over the dam, since Mr. Anscomb succeeded in winning the leadership of his party—to which he is entitled by seniority and service. And the public is more interested in the continuance of good government in British Columbia than in political manoeuvres—regardless of which party indulges in it.

PREPARING FOR A VITAL TASK

MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE 83 young men and women who are completing their one year Normal School course here this month have already been placed in schools and, according to Principal H. O. English, the remainder will be placed before the term ends. On the face of it, this fortuitous employment situation for those entering the profession is evidence of the demand for teachers to overcome the shortage so noticeable in recent years. To some, the approaching school year will mark the opening of gainful occupations which they will hold until they assume the important duties of home building or shift to other fields of activity. To others, September will launch them on careers which they intend to follow for a substantial part of their working lives.

Those in the latter category will be particularly concerned over the conditions under which they will discharge the responsibility of molding citizenship among the children placed under their care. Their attention will be directed to statements similar to that presented to the B.C. Teachers' Federation at its Easter convention in Vancouver that "unskilled laborers in the paper mills—15 and 19 years of age—get more pay than many experienced teachers." The force of that remark will probably be weaker to them, as they prepare to embark on their profession, than it will be in years to come, when they have added experience to their abilities. It should, however, call their attention to the position which school teachers should hold in the community and remind them of the duties which lie before them in establishing high standards.

They have, like a large body of British Columbia's youth, passed through high school and have added to the academic knowledge gained there, specific training gleaned from nine months specialization in the elements of teaching. In the years to come they will improve their status by taking further courses and pursuing specific studies to qualify them more adequately for the tasks ahead. But at this stage it might be well for them to analyse their position in relation to preparation for what will be, in some cases, their life's work. The relatively short term at Normal School is brief enough apprenticeship in their calling. And serious young men and women who wish to earn their living and serve their communities in this craft are bound to wonder if admission to it under existing conditions is not rendered as easy that claims for a higher professional recognition will be difficult to establish.

ON THEIR OWN MERITS

OF MORE THAN PASSING INTEREST to Canadians in general and of particular concern to ex-service personnel is the action of two delegates representing the University of British Columbia Command of the Canadian Legion who last night walked out of a meeting at which plans were being made to nominate a slate of candidates for Vancouver's next civic elections. One of the dissidents put forward the contention that "Veterans should run on their own merits, or not at all." Apparently the delegate who adopted that attitude sees the dangers which might arise in an organization which, through cohesion, could exert pressure for special interests.

The majority of citizens appreciate the debt they owe to those who fought for this Dominion in the war just concluded. They want to see the returned man and woman given consideration commensurate with the sacrifice he or she was willing to make, and they certainly have no quarrel with the preference shown those who have so recently doffed uniforms. Nor does the public object to the proper and honest efforts of the veterans' organizations to forward the interests of their members. Such action is logical and commendable. The continued guardianship of the veterans' interests, moreover, should be and is an objective which will command public respect.

It must be remembered, however, that the veteran is first a Canadian and secondly a returned man. He stands to gain in direct proportion to improvement in national conditions. Consequently, he is not served best by the immediate benefits which might be afforded him if his organization became a political machine which, conceivably, might ignore the broader national welfare to cater specifically to him. And unless our measure of the veteran is seriously in error, he does not want the transitory assistance of a unit which could be easily converted into a political pressure group. We feel that the Vancouver U.B.C. representative who called for veterans to run for office on their own merits appreciated that point and echoed the sentiments of the majority of his fellows.

WISHFUL THINKING?

WHEN MR. HAROLD PRITCHETT, vice-president of the International Woodworkers of America, told the striking "trekkers" who conducted a peaceful invasion of Victoria last Friday that the "entire labor movement of B.C." would be asked "to organize a mammoth labor lobby in the near future to converge on the capital," he assuredly was indulging in a good deal of wishful thinking.

The "entire labor movement" of this province includes many unions whose membership seems to have lost all patience with officials who pay allegiance to and accept direction from a parent organization dominated by the disciples of imported philosophy. Every organized worker, of course, insists that labor is entitled to fair play; and every intelligent union man realizes that peace between employer and employee depends upon a more liberal adoption of the principle of give-and-take than has marked this relationship in recent times.

Mr. Pritchett's suggestion that a "mammoth lobby" converge on the capital with the co-operation of the "entire labor movement" of the province will strike the average observer of the progress of the present strike that the district president of the I.W.A. was far from satisfied with the psychological effect of last Friday's demonstration in the streets of this city. His new plan, if it hopes to make an impression, would have to embrace the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. So far, however, the officials of the craft unions have not been particularly pleased with the C.I.O. directives—especially with its "sympathy strikes" dictum.

Neither the Victoria Trades and Labor Council nor the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council—the latter the most influential labor body in this province—has indicated its interest in the current strike beyond its natural desire to defend the legitimate rights to which labor is entitled.

Of the 134 unions affiliated with the A.F.L. in the two largest cities of the province, only about a score owe allegiance to the C.I.O. To persuade 130 affiliates to do his bidding would indicate a stiff job for Mr. Pritchett. But perhaps an early end to his particular strike will save him from further embarrassment.

A TIME AND A PLACE

WHOM A MAN MARRIES OR HOW HE marries would seem to be a matter for his own determination and that of the prospective "better half," but there is logic in the instructions issued to all its presbyteries by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada against performing the ceremony under circumstances which at least offend good taste. The action followed censure of a pastor for participating in a service in a Vancouver boxing ring. The circumstances might disclose, of course, that the male participant, a boxer, wished to be surrounded by his friends on the occasion and found it convenient to use the auditorium with his acquaintances already assembled. The function, however, smacks heavily of a stunt, a whim hardly in keeping with the dignity or impressiveness of the important contract into which the young man was entering. If there is a time and place for everything, a fight ring seems hardly fitting for such an event—regardless of the opportunities it might furnish cynical humorists to speculate on the course of a domestic arrangement begun in such an unusual venue.

The boss of the house is the one who interrupts with corrections while the other is describing a wreck they saw.

PORTENT FROM NEBRASKA

THE DEFEAT of Governor Griswold, who was backed by Mr. Stassen in the Nebraska primary elections, was decisive—about two to one. It is a portent which cannot easily be dismissed. The victor, Senator Butler, is an unreconstructed isolationist, and the verdict shows that in that part of the country the voters have not been won over to U.S. foreign policy and do not, therefore, wish to pay the bill, that is to say, to conscript men in time of peace and to provide large funds for foreign loans.

Does this indicate, as many may conclude, that another tide of isolationism is in motion? I venture to think that the answer is yes if the general character of American current foreign policy is not deeply reconsidered and greatly revised. For it is lacking in that element which is necessary if it is to inspire our people and to command their confidence. It lacks the basic ingredients of American initiative and constructiveness, and it has been allowed to degenerate into partisanship and advocacy in a series of disputes where the American interest is not self-evident.

THIS DOES NOT MEAN that there is not an American interest indeed a vital American interest—in the Middle East, the Balkans, the Danube Valley, Austria, the Mediterranean, and Germany. But it does, I believe, mean that U.S. policy has been shaped much too much by taking sides in conflicts which have been posed and defined elsewhere, and has been animated much too little by the conviction that the power and influence of the United States must be identified with constructive solutions designed to liquidate the conflicts in a better European order.

The American people will never deeply accept a foreign policy which seems to them a mere entanglement in the rivalries of the Old World. For while American foreign policy can and must change, the tradition and instinct of the people will continue to be in essence what Washington meant when he said that "Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation."

WHOEVER FORGETS this enduring truth in conducting American affairs, will in the end be reminded of it sharply. This is not isolationism, though isolationists like to quote it, and Washington and his contemporaries were not in the present sense of the word isolationists at all. But Washington's statement is a recognition of the fact that America's relation to the Old World is different from that of any of the powers in the Old World. And whenever this difference is lost sight of by American statesmen, they risk offending the instinct of the people, and so they lose their support.

A striking example of a partisan and entangling policy, as distinguished from a detached and constructive one, is afforded by the manner in which Secretary Byrnes' proposals for Austria are being presented here and to the world. The Alsop brothers report that what Mr. Byrnes wants most of all in Paris "is a peace settlement for Austria. His reasons are simple. Austria is the most important key point in the frontier between western Europe and the Soviet area to the east. And the presence of Soviet troops in Austria provides the excuse for maintaining Soviet 'line-of-communication' troops in Hungary, Rumania and throughout the Balkans."

I AM AFRAID that this is not an incorrect report of the reasons which animate U.S. Austrian policy. Could any reasons be more obviously and inevitably self-defeating than to tell the Russians that the reason the United States wants an Austrian peace treaty is that she wishes to make them get out of eastern Europe? Even if this were the reason, the naïveté of announcing it as a prelude to the negotiations is astounding. It shows how a policy, which is negatively anti-Soviet instead of being positively European, can get to a point where it defies elementary common sense.

A positive Austrian policy would be concerned primarily with the fact that unless Austria can be neutralized like Switzerland, it will become a principal arena of conflict. Austria under Russian domination would be the means of dominating southern Germany and Italy. Austria under the domination of a revived Germany would become again what it has always been—the main springboard of Pan-Germanism into the Danube Valley and the Balkans.

WE SHALL BE deceiving ourselves if we do not realize that the Austrians are a minority who really accept the idea of Austria as a small independent state, or fail to remember that Dr. Renner, the President of Austria, is a life-long adherent of Pan-Germanism.

Certainly we must work for the evacuation of Austria, and the relief of the burdens of the occupying armies. But that should not be our primary aim. Our primary aim should be the reconstruction of Austria as a neutralized state—under international supervision until it is certain that the roots of Pan-Germanism, which are deep in Austria, have withered, and a new and re-oriented Austrian generation has come forward.

If the United States makes that her real objective, and demonstrates persistently and concretely that she means it, she will have an Austrian policy—a policy which not only gives her the right to negotiate with the Russians about evacuation but also a means of gaining positive support among the neighboring peoples of the Danube Valley.

FOR THESE PEOPLE have not forgotten the centuries when they were ruled from Austria, nor that it was from Austria that Hitler conquered Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, and ensnared Mussolini.

10 Most Admired People In U.S.: Only Outsider, Churchill

By American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and President Truman are the three persons most admired by the people of the United States today.

In a coast-to-coast survey by the Institute, people in all walks of life were asked: "What person living today in any part of the world do you admire most?"

The following are the top 10 choices. The names are listed in order of frequency of mention:

1. Gen. Douglas MacArthur.
2. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.
3. President Harry S. Truman.
4. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.
5. Winston Churchill.
6. Former President Herbert Hoover.
7. Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Commerce and former Vice-President.
8. Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.
9. Harold E. Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota and former captain in the navy.
10. James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State.

More than 400 different names were mentioned by voters in the survey.

The list of the top 10 is interesting for the types of leaders not mentioned. There are no movie or radio stars among the top 10 most admired people, no businessmen, no labor leaders, no sports figures, no religious leaders, no writers, educators or scientists. While some observers say the country is moving leftward, many of the 10 most admired people would be classed generally as conservatives.

Names most prominently mentioned after the top 10 are Popo, Gen. George H. Dyer, Secretary of State; Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan; Bernard Baruch, presidential advisor; Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of the Philippine war; Walter Winchell, columnist; Edward Stettinius Jr., former Secretary of State, and first U.N. delegate from the United States; Henry Ford, Joseph Stalin and Fiorello LaGuardia, director of U.N.R.R.

Among the men polled, the five most admired leaders are MacArthur, Eisenhower, Truman, Churchill and Hoover. Questioning among women revealed the following to be their most admired heroes: MacArthur, Eisenhower, Truman, Mrs. Roosevelt and Churchill.

Married Today At Oak Bay Church

Baskets of gladioli and blue delphinium formed a pretty setting in Oak Bay United Church for the wedding at 3 this afternoon of Alice Rosalie, younger daughter of Mrs. W. R. Thomson, 836 Monterey Avenue, and the late Mr. Thomson, and Hugh Munro Fraser, elder son of Mrs. D. G. M. Fraser, Kelowna, and the late Mr. Fraser. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiated.

Given in marriage by her cousin, T. Barbour, the bride wore a gown of white tulle with sweetheart neckline, puff sleeves and elbow-length gloves. Her veil was finger-tip length and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses and carnations. A string of pearls, a gift of the groom's mother, completed the bride's costume.

Mrs. Charles Martin attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing a white crepe frock with turquoise and rose accessories. She carried a powder-puff bouquet of rose carnations. Ian Fraser of Vancouver supported his brother and ushering were Walter Hartman and William Carter.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, the couple leaving later for a honeymoon in the Okanagan. Going away, the bride wore a turquoise and brown ensemble with coral sage bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Fraser will reside in Kelowna.

Montreal Bride Gowned In White

A toe-touching gown combining a bouffant net skirt and white silk jersey bodice with short puff sleeves and long white jersey mitts, was chosen by Dorothy Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lorimer of Montreal for her marriage Saturday evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to George Alex Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Warren, 151 Cambridge Street.

The bride's fingertip veil of white tulle was arranged beneath a halo and she carried a cascading bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a gold heart-shaped locket.

Given away by her father, the bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. R. L. Barnes and Miss Florence Lorimer, wearing similar period gowns of delphinium blue tulle with pink gloves. Their pink chapel veils were held with matching blue flowers and they carried colonial bouquets. C. C. Warren was groomsmen and ushering were R. L. Barnes and J. R. McKibben. Rev. G. A. Reynolds performed the ceremony. G. H. Peaker was the organist and Mrs. H. T. Weatherby, the soloist.

Following a reception in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Warren left on a trip to Skagway, Alaska. Taking leave of the guests, the bride donned a dressmaker suit of French blue wool, black accessories and orchid corsage bouquet. The couple will live in Victoria.

Victoria Girl Sees Victory Parade

Miss Elizabeth Holmes, daughter of Major and Mrs. H. C. Holmes, 336 Newport Avenue, was one of eight young Canadians representing the youth of Canada on a mission to the youth of Great Britain who watched the Victory Parade in London this month.

These eight boys and girls, from all parts of Canada, ranging in age from 17 to 20, are representing private schools, educational councils, colleges, church organizations, boys' parliaments, boy scouts, public schools, air cadets and Junior Red Cross. Miss Holmes was nominated by the National Council of Education of Canada.

The contingent was taken overseas on the Queen Mary by Maj. F. Ney, founder of the Empire Youth Movement and of the National Council of Education of Canada. They attended the empire youth Sunday service in Westminster Abbey and the great youth meeting in Albert Hall on May 24. Later, at Buckingham Palace, they met Princess Elizabeth who addressed the great gathering. Lord Beaverbrook played host to them the first week they were in London.

This is intended to be the first of a series of trans-Atlantic visits both ways, with a view to helping to inspire the rising generation with a widening sense of its moral responsibilities in shaping a world future.

Miss Gladys Noble, 397 John Street, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Ethel Paterson, a June bride-elect. Mrs. Mabel Pickup and Miss Gladys Paterson presided at the tea table. Other guests were: Mesdames A. Valdey, E. Pederson, C. Noble, J. Keating, J. H. Paterson, A. Pietrzykowski, Misses D. Noble, M. McGuffie, P. Stevens, J. MacBratney, L. Noble, R. Headlip, J. Noble, K. Uehman.

Miss Joyce Sprinkling was honored at a miscellaneous shower recently given by Mrs. W. Ray and Mrs. G. Page at the home of the latter, 398 Gorge Road. Gifts were presented to the honor guest by little Miss Lorraine Kershaw. A buffet supper was served. Other guests were: Mesdames K. Edwards, E. Kershaw, A. Carney, J. Foster, T. Kershaw, A. Hunter, M. MacDonald, R. Sprinkling, D. Sprinkling, A. Arneson, M. Stewart, Misses M. Jackson and Lorraine Kershaw.

Annual Garden Party At Naval College

Saturday's rain did not prevent a large number of persons from attending the Red Cross garden party held in the grounds of Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads.

Enthusiastic groups of young and old alike visited the gunnery display arranged in front of the Cadet Block, played golf on the pygmy course and went for a ride on the lagoon in the Japanese kamikaze boat brought back from the east by H.M.C.S. Ontario.

One of the most popular events was the physical training display in which 60 cadets participated, giving various exercises, all requiring skill and agility, with precision and grace. Music was furnished by the band of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Tea was served in the dining room at the college by members of Colwood Red Cross under the convenship of Mrs. B. W. Parker. Belmont Red Cross was in charge of contests with Mrs. M. Burridge, G. A. Turner and W. E. Stevenson acting as conveners.

Victoria's May Queen, Miss Marjorie Hurst, was a guest of honor. She was introduced to her guard of cadets upon her arrival at the college and was then taken on a tour of the grounds.

St. Barnabas Scene Of Pretty June Wedding

Tail baskets of white campanules and blue delphiniums marked the chance steps at St.
Barnabas Church for the wedding Saturday evening at 3 o'clock of Mary Neal, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H.
Comber, 1524 Pembroke Street, and Denis Ady Simmonds, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Simmonds, 1827 Chestnut Avenue.
Rev. E. G. Munn performed the ceremony and Mrs. Richard Yer-burgh played the organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a heavy white satin gown fashioned with full skirt and gathered bodice.
Her floor-length veil of embrodered net was gathered to a coronet of pearls. A three-strand necklet of pearls, the gift of the groom and bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas completed the ensemble.

The two sisters of the bride,
Misses Muriel and Joan Comber were her attendants, gowned respectively in primrose and blue chiffon with matching bandeaus of flowers in their hair and carrying mixed bouquets of pastel colored summer flowers.

Geoffrey Simmonds acted as his brother's groomsman, and Christopher Howland and J. D. F.
Bullen were the ushers.

A reception was held at the Chestnut Avenue home of Mr.
and Mrs. T. A. Simmonds, where the young couple received their guests before the fireplace decorated with baskets of bright colored flowers. The bride's table was covered with a Madeira lace cloth, centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with tall white tapers. Major H. B. Hunter proposed the wedding toast.

Leaving for a honeymoon at Bridal Falls Chalet near Chilliwack, the bride wore a powder blue gabardine suit, beige topcoat with lynx collar, white hat with touches of blue, tan and white accessories and a corsage bou-quet of pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Simmonds will make their home in Vancouver.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I fell in love with a girl who had a six-year-old child and married her. Shortly after we were married she told me that she did not love me and was sorry she had married me.
In the nine years we have been married we have parted five times, and I have always gone back because we had two children of our own.

A year ago her attitude became unbearable and I got a divorce from her. I had been a good husband to her and a good provider.
Her own family say that I was too good to her. Now I have found a woman whom I like very much and have been thinking of marrying her, but when my ex-wife found out about this she insisted on my coming back to her.

Do you think I should return to her for the children's sake and give up this other woman who,
I know, would make me happy? I want to do the right thing without hurting anyone.

H. M.

Answer: If you have tried going back to your wife five times, you may be very certain that a sixth attempt to live with her would be just as unsuccessful as the others. She doesn't love you.
She never has and never will, and the only reason she wants you back is for the money you bring in.

Nor do I think that it would be of any special advantage to the children for you to go back to your wife, for it would be impossible to establish a peaceful, happy home, which is the only kind of a home in which children should be reared. Your wife would quarrel with you and make scenes and conduct herself just as she has always done previously, for the leopard doesn't change its spots, especially the female species.

Recreation Institute To Be Held At U.B.C.

Miss Elizabeth Thomas, faculty member of the Department of Social Work at University of British Columbia, will conduct a second community centres and recreation institute at the university June 24 to 28. Dr. Hendrie Anderson of Victoria, will be chairman for the discussion group for larger cities.

At the first institute held in January a representative gathering of 150 men and women from business, professions, service groups, civic and municipal bodies, school boards, attended and returned to work in their communities with renewed interest and greater knowledge.

Councils have been formed in many districts and are looking for trained help. The need for volunteer and full-time workers is great. The opportunity offered those interested in recreation by these institute meetings is outstanding.

Odeon Movie Club Stages Hat Contest

Hats that literally had "every thing," were seen at the original hat and drawing contest staged by the Odeon Movie Club at the Oak Bay Theatre, Saturday morning.

Thirty young girls entered hats of their own creation, with first prize going to six-year-old Venice Brydon, St. Patrick Street, whose hat comprised a cardboard plate, with fried egg, toast and half an orange. First prize was a plastic handbag.

There were no holds, pots, pans, forks or spoons barred in the contest and the hats had a sprinkling of each. Second prize went to Marlew Gort, 12, 1745 Elgin Road, and third prize to Gwen Finnemore, 12, 1300 St. Patrick Street, for her hat collection of cooking utensils protruding from a cheese grater.

Miss Donna Abbott judged the hats and Wilfred Garside the drawings. Fifteen boys entered drawings of an airplane and following were the winners: 1. Ian Tyson, 12, 1649 Wilmet Place; 2. Gary Williams, 14, 2770 Dewdney Avenue; 3. Bruce Davenport, 12, 2790 Dufferin. Gordon Larsen, 4, 1566 Hampshire Road, was given special mention. First prize was a model airplane kit.

Denis R. Watson, manager of the Oak Bay and club chief, was in charge.

YOUR OLD CLOTHES MAY SAVE A LIFE

Yes, one of your discarded garments can mean the difference between life and death to someone in a war-torn land. Cold, sickness and possibly death still face millions in Europe and Asia because of lack of clothing. You can help to avert a disaster by contributing all you can to the National Clothing Collection which starts today.

Remember, even if your individual contribution seems small, somewhere there is someone who can wear—who needs—whatever you can give. 25,000,000 destitute people are waiting for an old coat, a pair of shoes, a blanket, anything to give protection against the cold and weather.

Here's what you can do. Wrap your bundle in paper. Tie securely. Tie boots and shoes in pairs. Take all you can spare to your nearest post office or collection depot.

Anxious Veterans Still Await Bonds

Inquiries about overdue 9th Victory Loan bonds purchased by war veterans against prospective gratuities have been numerous at the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Arrangements were made last fall for servicemen and women to assign up to 75 per cent of their anticipated gratuities to the purchase of the bonds, on the assurance the bonds would be delivered after the final gratuity payment.

However, veterans claim, there was no indication how long after the last gratuity payment the bonds would arrive.

"The Department of Veterans' Affairs, without actual responsibility itself in the matter, refers veterans to the chief clerk of the Employee Instalment Purchase Plan, Department of Finance, Ottawa."

U.S. Grain Situation Obscure Till O.P.A. Bill Cleared Up

CHICAGO (AP)—A highly confused situation in grains and grain products confronted the United States today, with little prospect of clarification until the Office of Price Administration Extension Bill is out of the way.

About the only thing "right" in the grain picture was the wheat crop itself. It was coming along splendidly, with experts raising their production estimates as southwestern yields exceeded expectations.

Otherwise, the grain picture included these developments:

1. Predictions that both the corn wet milling and the rolled oats industries will be shut down shortly unless more grain is obtained.
2. Reports that producers were reluctant to deliver wheat to elevators because 50 per cent of such grain must be sold to the government at present ceilings, and ceilings might eventually go higher.
3. Inability of cash grain dealers to lure oats and corn off farms despite trade "tie-in" offers which include everything from southern pine lumber to nylon stockings.
4. Suspension of trading in many grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade, which was once the world's leading atomic regulation will be established in a form fairly satisfactory to the White House and that a pared-down version of labor controls may be set up.

At best the President apparently can get only a shadow of the full price controls he sought. The draft may be extended in a way he probably can accept. Any action on unification of the armed forces seems out for this session.

6 Major Problems For U.S. Congress In Next 4 Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 79th United States Congress skidded around the corner today on what may be its last month's lap of work with a half dozen administration legislative projects barely hanging on.

The next four weeks of congressional action may place this country on a foreign policy course in line with President Truman's broad recommendations, but on a domestic route which he hardly can accept without some protests.

The six major problems still awaiting solution before the legislators quit to go home about July 15 include extension of price controls, renewal of the military draft, establishment of atomic energy controls, creation of emergency labor disputes powers, approval or rejection of the British credit and merger of the United States armed forces.

On the basis of present prospects, Mr. Truman can figure to break about even on these.

Indications are that the British credit will go through, that

Veterans' Views Clash On Civic Election

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two delegates representing the University of British Columbia command of the Canadian Legion, Sunday night walked out of a meeting of the United Veterans' Organization which had assembled to appoint a nominating committee to select a full slate of candidates to contest the fall civic election.

The student-veterans had previously registered disapproval of the entry of veterans into politics, civic and otherwise.

"It was obvious to us from the meagre attendance and also from the division on the resolution calling for the drafting of a constitution, that this organization represented only the opinion of a handful of veterans seeking to organize it," said Speed Hewett, secretary of the university branch.

"Veterans should run on their own merits," or not at all," he added.

The appointment of a nominating committee was vetoed by Col. John Wise of the Disabled Veterans' Association, who declared his organization "could not back the United Veterans unless it was a fully constituted association."

Endorsement of the move to put veterans in the city hall was given by Col. F. Magee of the Canadian South African Veterans, and N. Macdonald, Branch 177 of the Canadian Legion.

"If we fail to have a voice in the council chambers," Mr. Macdonald said, "we are failing the veteran."

A nine-man committee was selected to draw up the organization's constitution.

Lloyd Mangrum U.S. Open Golf Champion

CLEVELAND (AP) — They won't be calling him "Ray Mangrum's kid brother" around the golfing circuit any more—now he's national open champion.

In a whirlwind finish, Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, a Texas-born farm boy, snatched gold from the biggest prize Sunday over Canterbury Golf Club's storm-murdered layout in a double playoff with Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi.

Intercity Minor Ball Playoffs; Games Announced

Vancouver has a very active minor baseball circuit and are anxious to arrange playoffs with Victoria's top nine in the three sections reported George Cole, secretary of the Victoria Minor Baseball Association, on his return from the mainland.

Tacoma Boys' Club, an active small apple unit, has also expressed a desire to visit the city again this year for an exhibition game with an all-star juvenile local team, Cole said.

The association is still short of umpires and the secretary is anxious to see any senior local players who will undertake this chore on behalf of the up-and-coming ball playing generation. He can be contacted at B 1216 or G 7824.

LONG STROKE UP

He finished a single stroke ahead of his two opponents, his one-over-par five on the closing hole being good enough to maintain his edge as Ghezzi failed to down a four-foot putt which would have sent him and Mangrum into a third overtime session.

Mangrum, 31, wears the Purple Heart for shrapnel wounds received in Europe. He is a mighty mite, weighing only 145 pounds although six feet tall.

Before 1938, when he first took up tournament golf, he was known as Ray Mangrum's kid brother, Ray being one of the better-known journeymen pickling up prize cheques.

Nelson, forced into the playoff because of a penalty stroke assessed when his caddy accidentally touched his ball in the third round, had no excuses for his defeat in the playoff.

Salmon Retains Batting Lead In W.I.L. Race

Woody Salmon, veteran Salem catcher, is still setting the batting pace in the Western International Baseball League with a mark of 423. Danny Amaral of Bremerton holds the runner-up spot with 405.

Outfielder Ed. Murphy and second sacker Al. Steele pace the Victoria Athletics, each with an average of .293. Outfielder Pete Hughes is third among the local players with .288.

Milt Cadinha, Spokane, and Carl Gunnardson, Salem, head the pitchers, each with seven wins against no defeats. Bob Jensen, big Victoria right hander, leads in strikeouts with 87.

Averages of the leading batters and Victoria players follow:

North Shore Wins

VANCOUVER (CP) — North Shore United retained possession of the Provincial Cup by defeating Collingwood 3 to 1 before 2,500 fans here Saturday, but it was only in the last five minutes of play that they gained victory through two goals by Trevor Harvey.

United thus adds the Province Trophy to the Mainland Cup. Their next test comes Wednesday when they meet St. Andrews in the Coast League final to decide second half honors.

UNIVERSITY WINS

In an interschool cricket game Saturday, University School defeated Brentwood College with 35 for 9 wickets. Brentwood's score was 39 for 9 wickets.

Baker was high batsman for the winners with 33 not out. Morant, University School bowler, took 4 wickets for 7 runs.

Southworth Smart David Harum

Southworth, who doesn't consider a day well spent unless he comes up with a new "redskin" for his Boston Braves wigwag, appears today to have scored a 10-strike in his latest acquisition, Billy Herman, one of baseball's top infielders during the last decade.

Herman Aids Boston

In exchange for Catcher Stu Hentz, Herman drove in the Braves' initial run in the first game of Boston's double-header with Cincinnati which sent the Braves on their way to a twin triumph over the Reds 2 to 1 and 2 to 0.

Prior to his latest "scoop," Southworth, former St. Louis Cardinals pilot, controlled Ray Sanders, Johnny Hopp, Danny Litwhiler and Ernie White from the Redbirds; Johnny Barrett from Pittsburgh; Mike McCormick and Jim Konstanty from the Reds; St. Johnson from Philadelphia Phils, Emerson Roser from New York Yankees, and Don Padgett from the Dodgers. Konstanty has since been released.

DODGERS WIN

The league-leading Dodgers increased their margin over the runner-up Cards by whipping C. "Go" Cubs 4 to 2.

The Cards split with New York Giants when the Poin Grounders came back to humble them 9 to 1 after the Cards won the opener 4 to 1.

Boston Red Sox dropped their first series of the season when they could do no better than divide two games with Chicago White Sox. Boston won the opener 6 to 1. The pale hose came back to rout four Sox pitchers to win the afterpiece 7 to 4.

After pounding out a 9 to 2 win over St. Louis Browns, the Yankees cashed in on a three-base error by Pitcher Tex Shirley to win the nightcap 7 to 5 in 10 innings.

Washington Senators triumphed over Detroit Tigers 6 to 3 in a game held to seven innings by rain and darkness.

The largest crowd in Philadelphia's National League history, 36,910, saw the Phils extend their winning streak to four straight when they beat Pittsburgh 4 to 3 in the opener. The Pirates came back in the nightcap to hand the Phils their fifth defeat in the last 17 games, 10 to 1.

Cleveland moved into fifth place by winning both ends of its double-header with Philadelphia 2 to 1 in 11 innings and 3 to 2. Bobby Feller racked up his 11th win in the first game.

V.M.D. Manager Goes To Ottawa On Rithet Wharves Proposal

Following announcement over the weekend by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., that negotiations were under way for acquisition of the Rithet wharves here, H. S. Hamill, general manager of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., now occupying the property, left early this morning by plane for Ottawa, where he proposes to discuss the negotiations with Mr. Mayhew and Ottawa officials.

D. Anderson, V.M.D. controller, when asked today what V.M.D. would do if the wharves were taken over, said: "We haven't made up our minds yet. I wouldn't like to say anything about it."

Walter Miles, vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, expressed pleasure at the implications of Mr. Mayhew's statement. "I believe the government is realizing the necessity of developing west coast ports, and Victoria most of all, seeing it is the first and last port of call in western Canada," he said. "If they get this thing going, we can look forward to a great deal more shipping than we are getting now."

Hopes Citizens Aid Distribution

Hopes that citizens would again co-operate in ration book distribution was expressed by A. B. Food, Wartime Prices and Trade Board food ration officer, today, with the announcement that No. 6 ration book is now being prepared and will be issued during the week Sept. 9 to 16.

He said that in addition to sugar-preserves, butter and meat the new book would undoubtedly contain spare sheets. Distribution would be by volunteers throughout the city.

"We look forward," he said, "to the co-operation of the citizens who have assisted the administration so well in the past."

John Baxter, local ration board secretary, expected the books to be distributed Sept. 9, 10, 11 at schools throughout Greater Victoria.

Britons Informed Rationing Of Bread Highly Probable

LONDON (CP)—Britons were told Sunday night in a broadcast by John Strachey, Food Minister, that it was "highly probable" their bread soon would be rationed, thus giving them a chance to show the world proof of Britain's "international good faith."

Mr. Strachey, addressing Britons for the first time since he succeeded Sir Ben Smith as supervisor of Britain's larger, paid tribute to the United States while discussing aid to stricken Europe.

"It's rather easy for all of us to start criticizing America just now because she is better fed than we are," he said, "but do we realize that at this moment there are idle flour mills and bread queues in American cities because of the amount of wheat America is striving to send overseas?"

Mr. Strachey also declared that the British diet, though monotonous, was not so meagre as it might seem.

"In total quantity, we as a nation are only eating about 7 per cent less than we did before the war," he said. "Richer people are getting considerably less food than they used to, while many poorer people are actually getting more."

Mr. Strachey said there were other "painfully short" items and announced the present soap ration of "three average sized bars a month" would definitely be slashed.

The minister left by plane today for food talks in Ottawa, and later will go to the United States.

Subscribe $15.46 To Cancer Fund

At the conclusion of the third week of Victoria's Cancer Campaign, returns today amounted to $15,464.

G. H. Stevens said that booths at David Spencer Ltd. and Hudson's Bay Company had been closed, but that subscriptions could still be left at the Health Centre, 750 Pandora Avenue, or mailed to "Cancer Fund, Victoria."

Yvonne H. Stevenson, campaign secretary, said clubs wishing talks and showings of special anti-cancer films at their meeting should get in touch with her at B 3119.

New Roses Feature Horticultural Show

Annual summer show of the Victoria Horticulture Society will be held at the Crystal Garden Friday and Saturday. Roses, lilies, delphiniums and other flowers in season will be featured. The show will be open to the public at 2 Friday afternoon and continue through that evening; opening again at 10 Saturday morning and concluding at 9:15 in the evening.

From entries already received it is anticipated that this will be one of the best shows staged for some time. Many of the latest varieties of roses will be featured. There will also be a number of the new lilies which have been introduced by Miss Isabella Preston of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

Catalogues may be had on application to the secretary, M.D. D. D. McTavish, at 607 Fort Street. M.D. McTavish will accept entries until Wednesday.
